

ROADS IN FAR NORTH

CHARTER AUTHORIZED FOR PINE PASS RAILWAY COMPANY

Company Propose to Construct a Road from Edmonton Northwest to Athabasca River and Other Points—Edmonton and Slave Lake Railway want an Agreement with the Canadian Northern Road.

Ottawa.—The railway committee of the house of commons at the first sitting of the session practically cleared off the lengthy order paper and a majority of the bills were for a renewal of the charters, but one new charter was authorized and an act to incorporate Pine Pass Railway company, standing in the name of Mr. White, being reported with amendments. The promoters are Maurice Kinne, James Smith, Angus Chisholm, T. W. Lines and B. J. Saunders all of Edmonton.

Mr. Saunders explained to the committee that the company proposed to construct a line of railway from Edmonton in a northwesterly direction to a point near the confluence of McLeod river with the Athabasca river thence in a northwesterly direction to Grande Prairie thence westerly to Peace Coulee prairie and continuing westerly through the Peace River valley in a southwesterly direction to Fort George on the Fraser river.

Mr. White assured the committee that the country which they proposed to tap would not be served by any other railways at present seeking entrance to that country. The bill was reported after some discussion with an amendment increasing the proposed amount of capital stock from one to thirteen million.

Dr. Cash's bill giving Edmonton and Slave Lake Railway company the right to enter into an agreement with the Canadian Northern was reported without discussion.

Martin Birrell's bill to extend for five years' time for construction of that portion of Nicola, Kamloops and Similkameen between Nicola and Grand Forks was reported without opposition.

Mr. Birrell's bill to extend the time for the construction of the Kamloops and Yellow Head Pass railway was also reported.

There was some discussion on Mr. Goodeve's bill to extend the time for the construction of certain lines of the Columbia and Western company. It developed that when the charter was renewed in 1905, provision that the branch lines could be constructed on the consent of the governor in council was omitted and the bill was sent to the law clerk to be re-drafted.

Build 150 Miles by Fall

Montreal.—The officials of the Alberta and Great Waterways railway, which will be the most northerly road in Canada, running 350 miles north-east from Edmonton, are in Montreal. The officers here are W. B. Clarke, of Kansas City, president of the Alberta railway; and E. A. James, of Edmonton, general manager of the company. They stated that the road had been fully financed, and that they were here preparing to secure supplies for the work in the spring. The contracts for the whole 350 miles will be let in January, and these will stipulate that 150 miles should be completed for operation by next fall. The company, like the G. T. P., will let the grading by contract, and lay the steel itself.

James stated that the road would terminate at Fort McMurray, 350 miles northeast of Edmonton, and would open out a stretch of country equal to the Edmonton district for farming purposes. At Fort McMurray it will connect with the Peace, Athabasca and Mackenzie rivers, which together have 3,500 hundred miles of waterway navigable by steamers, stretching to the Arctic and Pacific oceans. The road will thus connect the Arctic ocean by water and rail direct with the Transcontinental railway at Edmonton.

Thinks Unionists Will Win

London.—"I am looking forward with interest to the result of the general election, and am only sorry that I cannot hope to take an active part in it. I think, however, that the Unionists are likely to win," writes Joseph Chamberlain to a friend at Scarborough.

The Standard, editorially, says the country has been brought to the turning point in its imperial destinies. Important as are the industrial benefits to be anticipated from the scientific scheme of tariff reform, they are less momentous than the establishment of economic relations between the mother country and the overseas dominions. This is the cause which should not stimulate commercial instinct of business race, but kindle the sentiment of an imperial nation.

Would Benefit Colonies

London.—A meeting of the West Indian committee was held here and the following resolution carried unanimously: "That the committee is of the opinion that a preferential trading arrangement between British West Indies and British Guiana and the Dominion of Canada offers the best prospects for future welfare and prosperity of these colonies provided interests of individual colonies be safeguarded."

Canadians are Suffering

Ottawa.—The trade commissioner at Havana reports that many Canadians are suffering hardship, induced by growing advertisements to locate there. The misrepresentations have worked much hardship and the Canadian government has had the matter under consideration.

Bishop Stringer is Safe

Kincardine, Ont.—A telegram was received recently by Mrs. Stringer, wife of the Bishop of Yukon, announcing his arrival at Circle, Alaska, and stating that he was in good health, that he had been delayed by ice, and expected to reach Dawson by Dec. 20.

Germany is Pacific

Berlin.—In the Reichstag Chancellor von Bethman, reviewing German foreign relations, said that he could rely sincerely of the expressed intentions of Premier Asquith that the interests of both countries would be served by a realization of the aims of good relations.

Thanks of Albertans

Guelph, Ont.—President Creelman was chairman at a banquet given by the board of trade to the horse breeders on their first visit to Guelph. Hon. Duncan Marshall of Alberta thanked the city for the good time the fair had given him and Senator Talbot and other Albertans present. He was glad that it was not side shows or horse races that had attracted the great crowds to Guelph.

TO DISCUSS BOUNDARIES

Hon. Wm. Pugsley Goes Over To Washington to Talk Things Over.

New York.—Wm. Pugsley, minister of public works, of Ottawa, Canada, was in the city a few hours before leaving for Washington, where he has important matters to present to the government.

"Of course I cannot reveal the exact nature of my mission to Washington," he said, "but I am deeply interested in the mutual interest of our two countries, and can say that the boundary question will be settled amicably and with entire satisfaction to both Canadians and Americans. The first is the St. John's river commission, looking into the questions at issue regarding the boundary between New Brunswick and Maine, and considering a plan of storage reservoirs to conserve the headwaters of the St. John's river, with a view to improving navigation in dry seasons."

"Then there is the international waterways commission, dealing with the uses of the boundary waters and the boundary line through the great lakes."

"Lastly there is a commission concerning the regulations of the fisheries of boundary waters, including the lakes and rivers along our frontier. There is no doubt in my mind that all these boundary problems, in many cases somewhat intricate, will be solved most satisfactorily, everything tending towards a unity of interest between our two countries."

Great Opening For Poultry Industry

Calgary.—The Calgary Poultry and Pet Stock Association held the second annual banquet at the Y. M. C. A. hall, at the conclusion of its winter show.

J. Ross Wallace, president, acted as toastmaster, and Mayor Jamieson referred on behalf of the city, referring at some length to the great progress that had been made in the past few years. Commissioner Graves also delivered a brief speech along the same lines.

A. W. Foley, of the department of agriculture, gave some facts about the poultry industry in Alberta. At present the supply did not nearly equal the demand. He noticed that in England alone last year there was 62,000,000 dozen eggs short of the demand. The department of agriculture this season would hold several poultry courses in different parts of the province and he was sure the department would continue in the future to promote the interest in the poultry business.

P. Burns said the demand in Alberta for poultry was very large. From his own experience there was shipped into Alberta last year over 1,000,000 lbs. of poultry. This meant two trains of twenty-five cars each. Alberta supplied to the market about 200,000 lbs. Eggs were also shipped to Alberta in large quantities.

E. L. Richardson, C. Cook of Lethbridge, and Miss Trench replied for the society.

Ontario Afraid of Alberta

Guelph.—The directors of the Ontario Provincial winter fair board had a peculiar matter to consider. It was a request for space in the building made by J. Lundy, on behalf of the Edmonton board of trade, to display colonization advertising matter. The board took the stand that, being a provincial show they had not a right to allow advertising displayed in the building, where it would be seen by farmers, and would have the effect, perhaps, of taking them from Ontario to the west. Lundy was not allowed to make a display.

A request from the Calgary board of trade was treated in a similar manner. The board could not keep them out of the annex, and it is there that Mr. Lundy, who is an old Guelph boy, is making a display in the interests of the west.

Japan is Out to Gobble Up Korea

Paris.—The St. Petersburg correspondent of the Journal says that grave information has been received there from Tokyo as to the actual intentions of Japan in regard to Korea. Diplomatic information, which, cannot be doubted, is to the effect that since the assassination of Prince Ito Japan has resumed her former projects of pure and simple annexation of Korea to the Japanese empire.

This political act would be in direct opposition to the treaty of Portsmouth. In case Japan should adopt such a course, Russia would be forced to regard herself as grievously offended. It is considered in St. Petersburg that this conflict might give rise to a new cause belli.

France Will Not Send Warship

Paris.—France will not send a warship to Nicaragua. This was ordered the day following the receipt by the foreign offices of advices from M. Arlot, French charge d'affaires in Central America. The charge reported that the sole basis of the rumors that the French citizens had been mistreated in Nicaragua, was the arrest and sentence to a year's imprisonment of a Frenchman, who was alleged to have fought in the ranks of the insurgents. Upon M. Arlot's representations to the Nicaraguan government, the Frenchman was released.

CONDEMNS THE LORDS

SIR WILFRID LAURIER QUOTED BY A BRITISH PAPER

Premier of Canada Regards Action of the Lords as a Challenge from all that is Progressive in the Three Kingdoms—Believes it Would be Just as Logical to Have Hereditary Doctors as Hereditary Law Makers.

London.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier is being dragged into the party fight here. The Manchester Guardian, a most authoritative exponent of views of Messrs. Lloyd-George and Churchill, devotes much space to an article from an Ottawa correspondent headed, "Canada's Opinion of Lords; a challenge to all that is progressive; a controlling oligarchy."

One paragraph reads as follows: "The hereditary principle of Lords quite condemns that chamber in the eyes of Canadians. Our people would take the liberty of thinking that Lord Lansdowne, who made an admirable governor-general, committed a tactical blunder in introducing it to reject the budget."

"Sir Wilfrid Laurier does not care to meddle in imperial politics, but it is well known that he regards the action of the lords as a challenge from all that is progressive in the three kingdoms. In his opinion representative government is as good as doomed in England if the lords, an unrepresentative body is to be allowed to force the Liberal administration out of power by rejecting a special bill hitherto supposed to be within the exclusive control of the commons. He says that many of the lords are exceedingly able men, but agrees with Benjamin Franklin that it would be just about as logical to have hereditary professors of mathematics at universities or hereditary doctors of medicine in hospitals as hereditary law makers and that it is all the more absurd and dangerous when the hereditary law makers usurp functions of representatives of the people and set themselves up as a controlling oligarchy."

Moving Picture of Ito's Assassination

Victoria, B.C.—A moving picture of the assassination of Prince Ito at Harbin is to be used at the trial of the Korean assassin, according to the advices brought by the steamer Kagawatu which reached port recently. When Prince Ito was meeting M. Kokovtsov, the Russian minister of finance, a Russian cinematograph photographer had prepared to take moving pictures of the meeting and took the scenes attendant upon the assassination of Prince Ito. When the Japanese officials learned that the pictures of the tragedy were successful, they took steps to secure a film 500 feet long and this will be shown in court at the trial of the assassin. M. Tamori of the Japanese press agency at Tokyo, has bought a set of the films, comprising the scenes of the assassination and these will be exhibited in Japan.

Chinese newspapers fear that the death of Prince Ito will result in a changed policy by Japan to China owing to the military party being brought power with the passing of Ito as head of the civil party, according to advices brought by the Kagawatu. The Pekin Times says that while Ito refrained from making striking coups, to boost his personal ambitions, his successors will likely not do so, and China may suffer in consequence.

Alberta Challenges U. S. Exhibitors

Omaha.—T. W. McNicol, secretary of the Lethbridge, Alberta, board of trade, who is in charge of the Lethbridge exhibit at the National Corn exposition, has issued a challenge to Minnesota for a contest in the display of oats, each side to enter their oats now on exhibit at the corn show. Minnesota, to whom the $1500 Colorado cup was awarded for the finest single sack of oats, has not yet accepted the challenge.

"Canada is shut out of the oat contest at the National show," says McNicol, "and it was not possible for us to enter for the prize which was restricted to oats grown in the United States. But we are satisfied that Lethbridge oats can lay it over the prize winner. Hence the challenge."

The trophy was awarded on oats which weight 46 pounds to the bushel. That which we have on display weighs 48 pounds to the bushel. Canada wants the visitors to the corn show to know that the only reason we did not secure the oat prize was because we were not permitted to contest for it, not because our oats were inferior."

Shaughnessy Declares for Reciprocity

New York.—"Both Canada and the United States are approaching the greatest era of prosperity in their history," said Sir Thomas G. Shaughnessy, president of the Canadian Pacific railway, who was a passenger on the outgoing liner Lusitania. "The two nations should work together, and Canada stands ready to consider any proposals from the United States looking to the signing of a reciprocity treaty between the two countries."

"We are getting thousands of your people from the northwestern states and they are becoming permanent residents and loyal citizens. The Dakota farmer becomes an active Canadian citizen in a very short time."

C. P. R. PLANS ON OCEAN

London Believes Control of the Allan Line is Almost Completed

London.—It is understood that one of the objects of the visit of Sir Thos. Shaughnessy concerns the completion of arrangements whereby the Canadian Pacific secure a working control of the Allan line.

Glasgow interests in the firm, which held about three-quarters of the working capital, have been purchased with this end in view. The new plans give the Canadian Pacific the much coveted entry into the steamship territory of Scotland, Ireland, and France, from which they are now excluded. It also gives the Canadian Pacific complete control of the Canadian mail contract, which is now shared with the Allans.

It is expected the growing needs of the Canadian Pacific's service on the Pacific will be met in the near future by the transference to the Japan service of either the Empress steamers now on the Atlantic or the Victorian or the Virginian, of the Allan service. It is also expected, in view of the transference, that Shaughnessy will make preliminary arrangements for the construction of two new Atlantic steamers of the latest type.

Army and Navy Total Abstinence

Washington.—"I believe in everything that engages voluntary abstinence, both within and without the army. All other things being equal, the man who abstains is better qualified to be a useful and law-abiding citizen and to promote his own happiness and that of his family and friends. One of the greatest burdens upon our country is that of crime which is the direct result of drink. When the Romans achieved their greatest successes they were water drinkers."

This is the body of a letter written by the secretary of war, Hon. J. M. Dickinson, the reading of which will be a feature of a mass meeting for the purpose of inaugurating total abstinence associations in the army and navy.

Common Standard for West Provinces

Calgary.—A movement is on foot among the educationists of the four western provinces looking towards the inauguration of a uniform course in the different provincial Normal schools, so as to facilitate interchange of teachers between the provinces.

As a result of the conference between the deputy ministers of education, the principle of the four Normal schools were appointed to meet in Regina last Friday and Saturday to discuss the question and recommend some basis for such movement to the departments. There were present Principals Thompson, of Calgary; MacIntyre, of Winnipeg; Perrett, of Regina, and Dickinson, of Toronto. It is hoped also to make this a first step towards the inauguration of a wider uniformity in the educational systems of the western provinces in the line of high school work and teachers' examinations.

The Centennial Before the Premier

Ottawa.—Sir Wilfrid Laurier, Hon. W. S. Fielding, Hon. Frank Oliver, Hon. Geo. H. Graham, and Hon. William Patterson, in the railway committee rooms of the House of Commons received a delegation representing the proposed Canadian international exposition at Selkirk. The delegation was accompanied by about fifty members of parliament from all parts of the country. The delegation was introduced by D. C. Cameron, president of the association corporation, who explained who had been done. He informed the ministers that if properly supported the exposition would be one of which Canadians would be proud. He said it had the support of the provinces. He thought that the amount asked for was too small to finance a world's fair successfully and it will be, he said, for their mutual benefit. Social union seems to be already pretty complete."

Not Annexation, But Voluntary Union

Kingston.—Goldwin Smith, has addressed the following letter to the editor of the Kingston Standard: "It seems that I have been represented as advocating annexation. Let me assure you that I have studiously avoided the use of a term which implies submission on the part of Canada to the power of the United States. That which I think seems the dictate of nature and likely as such to come to pass is the voluntary union of the two great English speaking communities on the continent for their mutual benefit. Social union seems to be already pretty complete."

Another Agricultural Invention

Yorkton, Sask.—A. E. Smith, of Yorkton, has invented an attachment which will fit any disc harrow manufactured whereby the attachment of two semi-circular plates over the discs converts the harrows into either surface or sub-surface landpackers. The invention has been patented in Canada and the United States and the manufacturer of these plates may be commenced at Yorkton.

Manchurian Railway Approved

London.—It is learned that the British government approved in principle the American proposal for the construction of the Tsitsikar railway from Alguin, in Northern Manchuria, to Chin Chow.

Japan also would agree to participate but the Chinese officials, it is understood, differ so as to the utility of the line, and some of them object to Japan's participation.

Canners of all Canada to Combine

Toronto.—A meeting of the Canadian canners was held in Hamilton recently, when the question of forming a merger for the whole Dominion was discussed. There are two officers before the independent canners, one through a Montreal brokerage firm, and another from a United States concern interested in the manufacture of cans.

WELCOMES SETTLERS

CANADA'S RECEPTION TO THE DESIRABLE IMMIGRANT

Government Does Many Things to Make the Lot of the Immigrant Better—Are Practically Wards of the Government for the First Year—For this Reason the Settler Feels a Strong Regard for Canada.

Chicago.—"The greatest possible freedom constitutes the least danger. That is why we permit such characters as Emma Goldman to enter Canada, say what she will do and depart. Without the halo of a martyr the things she said made no impression and left none. People soon forget that she was there."

J. Bruce Walker, commissioner of immigration of Canada, made this statement recently at the Great Northern hotel in a discussion regarding modern methods of handling immigration. He said his country was benefiting by the mistakes of other nations, that it took care of all immigrants for one year and considered that heart, brain and brawn could be better interpreted than laws.

"The boundary line between Canada and the United States," said Mr. Walker, "is little more than a line between two states or two provinces. Our immigration laws are so similar that there is really a mere exchange of courtesies at the boundary, but once with our nation an immigrant becomes a ward of the government for a year. Once a newcomer enters the immigration area—that is Manitoba, Saskatchewan and Alberta—we care for him in sickness or distress, pay his doctor's bill, nurse him, rebuild his house if it burns and are responsible for his welfare. Why do we do it?—because it pays. We have found that the nearer the government comes to the immigrant the nearer the immigrant comes to the government. It makes him a better citizen. He feels that he has something better to depend on than even his neighbors and friends. And from that feeling springs a regard for his adopted country that can be only likened to a man who adopts religion; he believes in it."

Mr. Walker said that fifty per cent. of Canada's immigration comes from the United States and the two principal gateways are at Emerson, on the Minnesota line and Port, Sask., in the district that the Mississippi valley furnishes most of the citizens who leave the States. "Regardless of what a few people may say on the other side of the line," continued Mr. Walker, "it is not until the boundary line is crossed one finds how close are the two nations. An American is really not questioned on entering Canada. Your people do the same thing for Canadians. That is if the citizen is power desirable. But any man coming to vote at municipal elections, who has not taken out his naturalization papers cannot enter if he has resided for some time in the United States."

Provides for Absolute Control

Prince Rupert, B.C.—The draft for the city charter just drawn up provides for absolute municipal control over the entrance of any electric light, telephone, telegraph, water or any other company, and the right of women to vote at municipal elections. The sale of liquor is to be determined by plebiscite. The draft will be passed upon by a public meeting.

American Farms Not Properly Tilled

Omaha.—"Give us a system of farming in the United States which shall greatly increase the productivity of the soil," advised James J. Hill, in an address before the National exposition here recently. Mr. Hill warned the congress that the time is not far distant when the farms as tilled at present will not feed the people of the country.

Export Many Clydesdales

London.—At the meeting of the Clydesdale Horse society of Great Britain and Ireland it was stated that the trade in Clydesdales during the year had been exceptionally good and over 1,400 had been exported, trade with Canada being particularly brisk. According to Canadian reports the demand for this type of cart horse is likely to increase.

French Coast Line.

The water boundaries of France are as follows: Mediterranean sea coast, 335 miles; North sea, strait of Dover and English channel, 572 miles; Atlantic ocean, 584 miles.

Scotland's Emblem.

The Danes made it a rule never to attack an enemy by night, on account of its cowardice, but upon one occasion they broke this rule. On they crept, barefooted, noiselessly and unobserved, when one of them stepped on a thistle, which made him cry out in pain. Alarmed by the cry, the Scotch fell upon the party and defeated them with fearful slaughter. Ever since the thistle has been adopted as the emblem of Scotland.

Nickel Steel.

At high temperatures the breaking strength of nickel steel is higher than that of welded iron, and this applies in a still greater degree to the elastic limit.

Mandarin.

Mandarin is not, as is generally supposed, a Chinese word, but one given by the Portuguese colonists at Macao to the officials of the Flowery Kingdom. It is from the verb "mandar" (to command). There are nine ranks of the mandarins, distinguished by the buttons in their caps—first, ruby; second, coral; third, sapphire; fourth, an opaque blue stone; fifth, crystal; sixth, an opaque white shell; seventh, wrought gold; eighth, plain gold; ninth, silver.

LET IT IN DUTY FREE.

Mr. Andrew Broder Would Admit Rooster on Condition.

Mr. Andrew Broder, the Federal member for Dundas County, and commonly known as the Abe Lincoln of the Canadian Parliament, is one of the people's representatives who believes in scattering sunshine and good will along not only the political but the business pathway. Previous to 1896, the year in which the pendulum at Ottawa swung to the Liberal side, Mr. Broder had for some time been occupying the position of collector of customs at Morrisburg. Since then he has continuously represented Dundas, Sir James Whitney's beloved constituency, in the Federal House.

But it was during Mr. Broder's occupancy of the customs office that several occurrences, humorous in character, are recorded. No doubt the now member for Dundas was zealous in the discharge of his duties. He doubt while occupying the chief desk at the receipt of customs the country's interests in that particular were in safe keeping. They truly were. But, after all, Mr. Broder, as was proper, viewed matters at times most kindly and humanly, and possibly was not too exacting as to the five yards of store print for Mary's dress, if he thought the purchase had made heavy inroads on the purchaser's finances.

Calgary's board of trade is joining the chorus of protest against the action of the Alberta university in grabbing the agricultural college.
Halt! President Fry better recall that recommendation of his to the senate! There is no use in sacrificing the institution to self ambition.—Glen.

Provisions for a $30,000,000 revolving fund to be used in the completion of United States government irrigation project was introduced in a bill by Senator Borah at Washington. It provides for the issuance of three per cent. bonds to the amount named. Payable out of the revenue fund at any time not earlier than ten years from date of issue and not later than twenty years.

J. B. McKenzie a Toronto barrister, has entered action against G. M. Lee, who provides the World with its reports of Osgood Hall proceedings. He asks for declaration that the reporter is not entitled to publish Mr. McKenzie's name for denigration of cases which he may be engaged to defend. He asks an injunction restraining the reporter from supplying the World with reports of cases in which the plaintiff may be engaged as counsel or solicitor, omitting the name of the plaintiff and retaining the defendant's name from publishing such reports omitting the plaintiff's name. If Mr. McKenzie should win his action it may be expected that the journals minded society people will see newspapers

A SERIOUS POTATO MALADY.

During the past thirteen years a serious potato malady has been rapidly spreading in European countries. The disease, which has been known in England since 1901, has received to that country the following name: Black Scab, Warty Disease, Callus Disease of Potatoes, but it is more properly designated as Potato Canker. It has hitherto been unknown on the continent of America, but has now made its appearance on this side of the Atlantic, having been recognized by the Botanist of the Experimental Farms, from diseased specimens of potatoes forwarded from a locality in Newfoundland.

While it is not very likely that potatoes will be imported to any extent from Newfoundland into Canada, yet the extraordinary virulence of the disease in Great Britain, and the remarkable rapidity with which it has spread over practically the whole of Europe, make it necessary to take a warning to all growers of potatoes to be diligently on the lookout for this serious malady. There is hope that the disease may yet be arrested before, spreading to other localities, if timely notice be given to the potato growers of the Dominion. The investigation which has been conducted into the nature of the disease, proves that it is one of the most serious malady known. Where allowed to establish itself, it renders the cultivation of potatoes extremely difficult. It is not desired to unnecessarily alarm the growers of potatoes, but it must be borne in mind, that if the disease is through indifference or negligence allowed to establish itself in Canada, there is no hope of being able to save a crop that is once attacked; moreover, the ground on which a diseased crop may have been raised, will be unfit for the cultivation of this important crop again for a period of six years. In this connection, practice and science must, as always, go hand in hand, and if our object in keeping the disease out of the Dominion, be attained, everybody who thus renders assistance, will deserve credit for saving the potato grower of Canada from disastrous losses.

CALGARY BOARD OF TRADE PASSES RESOLUTION ON AGRICULTURAL COLLEGE.

The Calgary Board of Trade has passed the following resolution referring to the establishment of an agricultural college in the province of Alberta, which goes to show that the people of Alberta generally are now taking a very active interest in the location of the college. It reads:

Whereas, it is now recognized that agriculture is the basis of the wealth of this province and that it is the duty of the provincial government to make such suitable and adequate provision for the education of the young men of the country as will stimulate and encourage them in agricultural pursuits, and

Whereas, a scientific and efficient following of agricultural pursuits necessitates such practical and technical training as warrants the establishment of an agricultural college in the province at an early date, and

Whereas, the establishment of such a college in connection with the provincial university is not calculated to afford that opportunity for experimental and demonstration work that the agricultural interests of the province demand, and will tend rather to injure the young men of the province to seek employment in the cities and towns to the detriment of our best interests, and

Whereas, the senate of the provincial university has indicated its intention to commence the construction and equipment of an agricultural college in connection with the said university without any financial provision having been made by the representatives of the people in that behalf

Therefore, be it resolved that in the opinion of the Board of Trade of the city of Calgary, in public meeting assembled, no action should be taken by the senate of the provincial university in connection with the location, erection and equipment of an agricultural college until such time as the representatives of the people in the legislature assembled have voted the necessary money for that purpose, and further resolved that in the opinion of this board of trade the agricultural college for the province of Alberta should not be located at Strathcona in connection with the provincial university but should be established in a portion of the province where an opportunity will be afforded for the experimental demonstration of our varied agricultural capabilities.

QUEENSBORO BRIDGE.

The Greatest Structure of Its Kind in the World.

Measured by the combined length and capacity of its five main spans, the Queensboro bridge, across the East river from Fifty-ninth street, New York, to Ravenswood, Queens, is the greatest bridge in the world. Including approaches, its total length is 8,600 feet, width 86 feet and greatest height over 300 feet above the water. It crosses from shore to shore, 135 feet above the river, with three enormous spans of 1,182 feet, 630 feet and 984 feet, the middle one reaching across the full width of Blackwell's Island. Besides these there are two more great "anchor" spans, one at each end, wholly over dry land, with a length of 3,724 feet for the five, which together contain over 103,000,000 pounds of steel. No other spans in this country, except suspension bridges, approach the longest of these, and the only trussed span in the world which exceeds it is the Forth bridge, which, although 1,710 feet long, has a capacity for only two railroad tracks, less than one-third of this. There are two decks, the lower carrying a wide driveway and four electric car tracks and the upper one two sidewalks and two elevated railroad tracks and having in all an estimated capacity of 200,000,000 car passengers and millions of vehicles and pedestrians annually. It cost over $20,000,000.—Exchange.

RULE OF THE SEA.

Old Whaling Law Applied to a Twice Caught Cod.

That etiquette is observed among the fishermen that journey to the fishing banks was discovered by an amateur angler on his first trip.

The amateur hooked a codfish, but his line parted just as the fish was above the water. Back fell the codfish, carrying with him two sinkers and the hook.

Twenty minutes later another angler cried out that he had captured a cod with two sinkers and a hook. The amateur went up to the angler, who appeared to be an old salt, and asked for his hook and sinkers, which had his name stamped on them. He was surprised when the old salt told him to take the fish also.

According to the rules generally followed on the fishing boats, the second angler was entitled to the fish, but the hook and sinkers should be returned to their owner. The old angler explained why he wanted to give up the fish.

It seems that he had followed the sea a great part of his life. When a young man he was a whaler, and, according to whaling law, a dead whale belongs to the ship whose name appears on the harpoon that killed it. Therefore the old salt figured that the amateur owned the codfish he had taken.

Euler's Wonderful Memory.
Leonhard Euler, who was born in 1707 and died in 1783 at St. Petersburg, where he spent his life as a teacher of great power and as a prolific writer, was an instance of the genuine mathematician endowed with almost superhuman powers. He left more than 200 manuscript treatises on his favorite subject, and the bulk of the works published by his academy between 1727 and 1783 were from his pen. In his old age he was totally blind. Then he carried in his memory a table of the first six powers of the "series of natural numbers up to 100."

It is related that on one occasion two of Euler's students attempted to calculate a converging series. As they agreed they found they disagreed in the result by a unit in the fifteenth figure. The question was referred to Euler, who decided to make the calculation. He did this mentally, and his result was found to be correct.

The Codmoppe.
Herrings are still eaten as much as in the days when Yarmouth had to send a hundred yearly to the king, baked in four and twenty pasties. But where is the codmoppe gone, and what was it like when kings dined off it in Lent? "Codmoppe sauce Hollandaise" would sound most intriguing on a Savoy menu. More original still would be the "roasted perpes" of a Henry V. banquet, which was the "sea swine" of the unrefined Saxon, the "porco marino" of the mediæval ecclesiast. A master cook gives an early receipt for "pudding of porpesse," another teaches how to "salte porpesse and scele," another how to "undertraunce that porpos." From which it may be seen that enterprise extended also to the spelling of the porpoise.—London Chronicle.

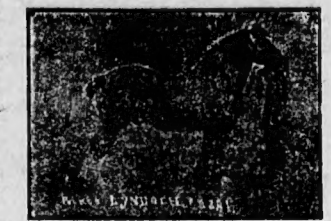

Candy-makers' Tricks.
An Atchison man went into a candy factory. He was surprised to see one of the candy-makers reach with his bare hand into a pot of boiling candy. He brought out a handful of the boiling fluid. He was testing its consistency. He first put his hand in a mill of water. After he had jerked out his hand he put it back in the water. The Atchison man tried the same thing and did it without getting burned.

Another Boring Question.
"I say, pa, is a man from Poland called a Pole?"
"Yes, my son."
"Then, pa, why isn't a man from Holland called a Hole?"—Comic Cuts.

Insult Added.
Big Man (with a grouse)—Will you be so kind as to get off my feet? Little Man (with a bundle)—I'll try, ah, is it much of a walk?—Cleveland Leader.

TRUTHFUL ADVERTISING THE BASIS OF SUCCESS.

Since the Ingredients Entering Peruna Are Known, Its Power as a Catarrh Remedy and Tonic is Understood.

COLUMBUS, OHIO.—The active ingredients entering the most popular household remedy in the world have been made known to the public. This means a new era in the advertising of popular family medicines—Peruna leads.

Peruna contains among other things, golden seal, powerful in its effect upon the mucous membranes. Cedron seed, a rare medicine and unsurpassed tonic. Cubebs, valuable in nasal catarrh and affections of the kidneys and bladder. Stone root, valuable for the nerves, mucous membranes as well as in dropsy and indigestion.

The little ills of babyhood and childhood should be treated promptly, or they may prove serious. An occasional dose of Baby's Own Tablets will regulate the stomach and bowels and keep your little ones well. Or they will promptly restore health if sickness comes unexpectedly. Mrs. Leona M. Thompson, Oil Springs, Ont., says:—"I have used Baby's Own Tablets for my little girls as occasion required, and have found them always of the greatest help. No mother, in my opinion, should be without the Tablets." Sold by medicine dealers or by mail at 25 cents a box from The Dr. Williams' Medicine Co., Brockville, Ont.

The Exception

In a home where the mother is somewhat aggressive and the father good natured and peace loving, a child's estimate of home conditions was tersely expressed the other day. While dressing, the mother paused in the act of putting on her shoes and said: "I certainly am easy on shoes. I have worn these for four months. I don't know what you would do John, if I were not. I am easy on everything." The little girl looked up from her dolls and remarked: "Except father."—Success.

STEALING CHILDREN.

Women Who For Various Reasons Carry Off Little Ones.

Perhaps the most amazing feature of the kidnapping cases which have engaged the attention of the police in England recently is that, in a number of instances where women were the culprits, the real cause of the offence has been traced, not to any desire on the part of the kidnappers to injure the stolen child, gain money, or seek revenge on the parents, but merely to the fact that they had been so attracted by the youngster as to be unable to resist the temptation of taking it away.

The theory has been advanced that it was such feelings which prompted the woman kidnapper in the recent South end baby theft; but that, becoming alarmed on account of the sensation she had caused, she abandoned the child in order to escape the consequences of her act. It certainly seems a feasible explanation in the light of other cases.

One day two years ago a poor woman, seated with her child, a pretty girl of two years of age, on one of the seats in Hyde Park, was accosted by a young woman, whose manners and dress stamped her as rich and well born. The lady spoke of her admiration of the child, gave her sweets, and asked the mother to meet her next day at the same spot, and she would bring the girl a pretty frock. The appointment was kept, and it was the first of several meetings between the poor woman and the society lady, who seemed enraptured with the child.

Eventually the lady asked the mother to let her take the child to her home, giving her a certain address. The mother was reluctant to part with the child at first, but ultimately gave way, and agreed to call the next day at the address given for the youngster. She did so, but judge of her amazement and grief when she found that the address was that of an empty house. The police were communicated with, and two weeks later traced the lady and the child to an hotel at Brighton.

The child was perfectly well, and seemed happy with the many beautiful things the lady had bought for her, but she recognized her mother instantly when the two were brought face to face through the medium of the hotel proprietor, whose suspicions had been aroused by seeing a description and photograph of the missing child in the newspapers. On account of the high position of the lady, who kidnapped this child simply because of her affection for it, the matter was hushed up as much as possible.

A Titled Innkeeper.

Lord Townshend, the wild and dissolute vicar—who signalled himself once by bringing a pack of foxhounds with him into the Council Chamber in Dublin Castle—while on a progress to the West was compelled by the breaking down of his equipage to spend the night in Kibbegan.

Much to his surprise and gratification he was served with an excellent meal and with claret of most choice bouquet and flavor, for in those days most innkeepers, even of the smaller country inns, had a store of good wine laid by for special occasions. Lord Townshend, according to his wont, did full justice to the vintage, and flushed with what he had drunk insisted on summoning the landlord into his presence. He compelled the worthy man to kneel down before him, and despite the remonstrances of the more sober among his suite he struck him with his sword, exclaiming: "Rise up, Sir Thomas Cuffe, prince of innkeepers!"

The next morning, on being reminded of his exploit, of which he was himself totally oblivious, he felt some dismay, and called for the newly-made knight. "We were guilty of some foolish last night," he said to him. "I trust you understand that what passed was a joke and nothing more." "For my part, my lord, I do not care," returned mine host, "but I must consult my wife on the matter." Her reply was, "I never looked to find myself a lady, but since fortune has made me one, such I'll remain." And Sir Thomas and Lady Cuffe they were all the days of their lives, though by no means above attending to the duties of their calling.

Nature's Silence Preferred.

To the pathfinder on the frontier line in the West the habit of speech becomes almost a lost art. Whether it is the vastness and the loneliness, or perhaps the close contact with nature's wonders of plain and mountain unsullied by the works of man, the cowboy and the prospector are not prone to extreme taciturnity. To illustrate which, R. E. Young, of the Department of the Interior, tells this story: Two Alberta cowboys, turned prospectors, as so many of their fellows did during the mining excitement of '96, had been working for some months as partners in the hills of Southern Kootenay. At noon one day, one of them was sipping his tea meditatively. The other silently passed him the hot water kettle. After a moment's consideration of the effect of the dilution—"Fire's too darned hot—tea's boiled," he said. The meal was concluded in the usual profound silence. Next morning the silent partner was up first and was silently packing his blankets. "What's up?" asked the other. "Goin' 'light out!" Too much talk around here 'fme."

Kept Him Busy.

Sir Arthur Fanshawe, who has held so many high appointments in India, recently related an amusing story of a Mohammedan servant who, when asked his religion, replied: "Beg pardon, sar, I'm a heathen." His master then asked him what he meant, a heathen, and the man answered: "Beg pardon, sar, a worshipper of stocks and stones." "Confound it," remarked the master, "I can't keep a man like that in my service." To which came the immediate rejoinder: "Beg pardon, sar, in your highness's service no time to worship anything."

TORTURED BY PILES.

Could Not Rest! Could Not Work! Could Not Play!

How Zam-Buk Brought Relief.

Mr. Julius Glacier of Denbeigh, Ont., says:—"I was so tortured by piles that I could not get on whether lying down, sitting or standing. The ailment robbed me of strength, of appetite, and of all desire to live! I had suffered so long and so acutely that I came to think there was no ease for me, but one day I found out that I was wrong!"

"I was told that Zam-Buk cured piles, and that this balm was altogether different to ordinary ointments, scores of which had proved useless for so bad a case as mine was. I got a supply of Zam-Buk, and began to use it regularly."

"Without going into unnecessary detail in a few weeks I found myself cured. I owe my cure to Zam-Buk entirely, and I trust my experience will be the means of leading other sufferers to try this great herbal balm."

Nothing need be added to this plain, powerful testimony save one question—If you suffer like Mr. Glacier did, why not get relief from the same source as he did?

Zam-Buk—as he truly says—is "something different" to the ordinary ointments and salves. It is a powerful combination of healing and soothing herbal essences. No mineral astringents or poisons; no impure animal fats.

It is a proved cure for inflamed areas (as in piles), erysipelas, eczema, ulcers, sores, abscesses, cold cracks, chapped hands, burns, cuts, scalp sores, and all skin injuries and diseases. It is the most suitable balm for children's rashes. All druggists and Stores at 50c a box or post free from Zam-Buk Co., Toronto, for price.

"Certainly, my husband, Mammy," proudly answered the lady.

LA GRIPPE

Arrested, and Consumption Cured

Mr. G. D. Colwell, of Walkerville, Ont., was stricken down with La Grippe in 1906 and it left him in very bad condition. He says: "I was all run down and bordering on Consumption. I could not sleep at night, had awful sweats, and coughed nearly the whole time. This is how I was when I began to take Psychine, in a low nervous state; but from the first bottle I began to improve. It did marvels for me and brought me back to health in no time, making a new man of me. It fortifies the body against the attacks of La Grippe and is a sure preventive. I always take Psychine if I feel a cold coming on and it puts me right in no time."

THE "REGENT."

A Diamond That Restored the Fortune of the House of Pitt.

Men have never collected great crystals for personal adornment. Even that "fribble in lace and spangles," the rival of Beau Brummel and afterward George IV. of England—even he sought them simply for some Perdita he was pursuing.

Louis XIV., le grand monarque, purchased twenty-five large diamonds, mostly for La Valliere, Montespan, Fontanges, Maintenon. Among them was the wondrous "Pitt." A slave in India found it. Having found it, his heart shouted for liberty. Cutting the calf of his leg in order to hide the diamond within the slit, he limped to the coast. To an English ship captain he offered it for passage to any country where men were free.

The captain, quite casually and with nice humor, took the gem and threw the slave into the sea.

The guerdon of such jesting release from servitude was sold to a dealer for $5,000 and through him reached Sir Robert Pitt, governor of Fort St. George, for $102,000, who shipped it home to England to be faceted.

A Scotch financier, John Law, then doing business in France, negotiated for a fee of $25,000 the sale of the diamond to the regent (afterward Louis XIV.) at $775,000.

It is pleasant to remember that thereby the fortunes of the house of Pitt were restored and that the seller's son, William Pitt, and his grandson, the Earl of Chatham, were assisted to high place and service by opportunities made possible through the profit on the diamond for which a poor slave, seeking freedom, was thrown into the sea.—Everybody's.

AN IRISH DUEL.

Rules Were Ignored and the Meeting Had a Happy Ending.

A duel with a happy ending seems an anomaly, yet one is commemorated in Blackwood's Magazine in an article on Irish "fire eaters." The duel as arranged was between John Egan, a county judge, and Roger Barrett, master of the rolls. Both men were humorous, and the meeting upon the fair ground of Donnybrook was characteristic.

Upon the combatants taking their ground Barrett, who was the challenger, promptly fired without waiting for the signal to be given and then walked coolly away, calling out:

"Now, Egan, my honor is satisfied!"

The judge, however, was by no means contented and shouted: "Hello! Stop, Roger, till I take a shot at your honor!"

Barrett thereupon came back and, planting himself in his former station, said composedly:

"All right, then. Fire away!"

Egan presented his pistol and, taking most deliberate aim, first at one part of the anatomy of the master of rolls and then at another, seemed determined to finish him outright. At last, however, he cried out:

"I won't honor you! I won't be bothered shooting you! So now you may go your own way or come and shake hands with me, whichever way you like best."

Barrett chose to shake hands, and amidst the plaudits of the crowd the antagonists departed from the field in much good humor, the best of friends.

A Haughty Personage.

Professors in Germany are important personages and know it, but few probably ever reach the pinnacle of haughtiness attained by the one of whom this anecdote is narrated.

He was one of the greatest men in the faculty at Heidelberg. One day the authorities of that city ordered that the street in front of the professor's house should be paved.

"If you don't stop that noise," remarked the professor to the pavers, "I shall give up my position as a member of the Heidelberg faculty."

The pavers stopped work at once. The municipal authorities sent around to inquire respectfully of the professor when they might pave the street.

"When I take my vacation," he replied.

Then, and then only, was the street paved.

Influence of Sunshine.

M. Pouillet, an altogether competent authority on the subject, concluded from some experiments he made that the cold of void external space must be at least 253 of Fahrenheit's scale lower than the temperature of freezing water—that is, further below freezing water than boiling water is above it. Such would certainly be the condition of things upon the surface of the earth in the entire absence of sunshine, and such the earth will eventually become, for it is as certain as any thing in the world that the time will come when the heat of the sun will cease.—Exchange.

Wise Girl.

"What? You're going to marry Tom Speed? Why, he's awful."

"What makes you think so?"

"I hear he's been blackballed by every club in town."

"Yes, I heard so too. That sort of husband won't have much excuse for staying out nights, will he?"

Trying to Place Him.

Boody—I'd have you to know, sir, that I'm not the idiot you think I am. Knox—Oh, I beg pardon. Which idiot are you?

A GOOD COUGH MIXTURE

Simple Home-Made Remedy That is Free From Opium and Harmful Drugs.

An effective remedy, that will usually break up a cold in twenty-four hours, is easily made by mixing together in a large bottle two ounces of Glycerine, a half-ounce of Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure and eight ounces of pure Whiskey. This mixture will cure any cough that is curable, and is not expensive, as it makes enough to last the average family an entire year. Virgin Oil of Pine compound pure is prepared only in the laboratories of the Leach Chemical Co., Cincinnati, Ohio.

Hotel Etiquette

"We had finished dinner in the little unpainted hotel," said Miss Marie Booth Russell, "and were waiting for dessert, which had been ordered. The redheaded waitress hung anxiously about the table where we were as anxiously awaiting dessert. Finally I lost all patience and told her we could not wait all the afternoon for her."

"Well, if you was through," she said, "why didn't yer stack up your dishes?"

ONE WOMAN'S STATEMENT

TELLS HER SUFFERING SISTERS TO USE DODD'S KIDNEY PILLS.

They Proved a Blessing to Her When Her Pains and Weakness Were Almost More Than She Could Bear.

St. George, Man. (Special).—Hoping to have her sister women in the West from pains and aches which come at the critical times in a woman's life, Mrs. Arsene Vinet, of this place, has given the following statement for publication:—

"I have brought up a large family and have always enjoyed good health until the last two years. I am fifty-four years of age and at the critical time of life that comes to every woman, I had pains in my right hip and shoulder, and could not lie down two minutes at a time without suffering the greatest agony. Sometimes I awakened with a feeling as if some one had laid a piece of ice on my head. Another time it would be a burning pain under the left shoulder."

"I took many medicines but could get no relief, till reading of cures of similar cases to my own by Dodd's Kidney Pills, led me to try them. They did wonders for me."

"I want all women to know what Dodd's Kidney Pills did for me."

Dodd's Kidney Pills cure the Kidneys. The women who have sound Kidneys, is safeguarded against nine-tenths of the suffering that makes life a burden to the women of Canada.

THE WOMAN WITH THE SERPENT'S TONGUE.

She is not old, she is not young. The woman with the serpent's tongue, The haggard cheek, the hungering eye,

The poisoned words that wildly fly;

The famished face, the fevered hand, Who alights the whitest in the land, Sneers at the just, contemns the brave,

And blackens goodness in its grave.

In truthful numbers be she sung, The woman with the serpent's tongue, Concerning whom fame hints at things

Told but in shrugs and whisperings.

Ambitious from her natal hour, And scheming all her life for power, With little left of seemly pride, With venomous fangs she cannot hide;

Who makes love to you to-day, To-morrow gives her guest away, Burnt up within by this strange soul She cannot slake, or yet control.

Malignant-lipp'd, unkind, unswear, Past all example, indiscreet, Hectic and always overstrung— The woman with the serpent's tongue.

To think that such as she can mar Names that among the noblest are; That hands like hers can touch the springs

That move who knows what men and things; That on her will their fates have hung,

The woman with the serpent's tongue. —William Watson.

After the Fight.

A duel with a happy ending seems somewhat anomalous; but there is at least one such on record.

It had been arranged, over some disagreement, between two Irish "fire eaters," John Egan, a county judge, and Roger Barrett, Master of the Rolls. Both men were humorous, and the meeting upon the fair ground of Donnybrook was characteristic.

Upon the combatants taking their ground, Barrett, who was the challenger, promptly fired without waiting for the signal to be given, and then walked coolly away, calling out:

"Now, Egan, my honor is satisfied!"

The judge, however, was by no means contented, and shouted:

"Hello! Stop, Roger, till I take a shot at your honor."

Barrett thereupon came back, and planting himself in his former position, said composedly:

"All right, then, fire away."

Egan presented his pistol, and taking most deliberate aim, first at one part of the Master of the Rolls' anatomy and then at another, seemed determined to finish him outright. At last, however, he cried out:

"I won't honor you! I won't be bothered shooting you! So now you may go your own way, or come and shake hands with me, whichever way you like best."

Barrett chose to shake hands, and amidst the plaudits of the crowd the antagonists departed from the field in much good humor, the best of friends. Blackwood's Magazine.

Monkeys Registered at "Gib."

The monkeys of Gibraltar are familiar objects of interest to visitors to the Rock, and hold official recognition in connection with the garrison. How they first got into occupation of the stronghold is unknown, though they are undoubtedly descended from an ancestor brought by man from the Barbary coast opposite. They are a great and protected community.

The guards on the highest point—the signal-station—have strict orders to chronicle the monkeys' movements, and to register their births and deaths. When their numbers have so greatly increased as to need thinning, special warrants from high home authorities are received in order to give the quietus to a small percentage of the community.

A Vicious Weapon.

Basing his statement on a series of experiments with the latest pattern of military firearm, Dr. Fessler of Dresden says in a recent number of Der Militarist that in the next great war the mortality from gunshot wounds will be "frightfully large." He describes one kind of military rifle the missile from which will "not go straight, but will be deflected by the slightest resistance after it strikes the body and will continue on, making a wound at an angle with the one through which it entered the body." The "wounding capacity of the new weapon is many times greater than that of the rifles now in use," and this, he says, "makes it a tangible argument in favor of peace."

The First Balloonist.

Mention of the experiment of placing dogs in battleships subjected to bombardment recalls the fact that animals were used as passengers in the early experiments in flying. In fact, the first modern aerial travelers were a sheep, a cock and a duck, which were suspended in a cage beneath the balloon sent up from Versailles by Joseph Montgolfier in 1783. A voyage of two miles left them quite uninjured, except the sheep had kicked the cock in the wing. In America, too, early experiments were made with animals which were let up to a certain height by a rope.—London Chronicle.

Poor Czar.

"Poor czar!" With these words a writer in the Oesterreichischen Nachrichten begins an article on the "Unmasking of the Russian Emperor." "Once upon a time," he says, "he was in Japan with the crown prince of Greece, while making a tour of eastern Asia. A young Japanese fanatic struck him on the head with a cudgel, and since that time his mental powers have been impaired. He can follow no written or oral discourse which lasts longer than a few minutes, and for that reason it is an easy matter for those who surround him to deceive the ruler of all the Russias."

Effect of Irrigation.

Forty years ago the stretch between El Monte, in Los Angeles county, and San Bernardino was known as the Forty Mile desert and was somewhat dreaded by teamsters. Today, thanks to irrigation, there are to be found in that section some of the finest vineyards and orange groves of California.—San Francisco Argonaut.

He was educated at Nanpanee High School and the Royal Military College, Kingston, Ont., being one of the first graduates of the new boarding institution, and taking the highest honors. In 1880 he was appointed a lieutenant in the Royal Engineers, Chatham, Eng., but on account of ill-health he was forced to resign the following year. He returned to Canada and joined the Northwest Mounted Police force and soon after was gazetted inspector. After the Northwest rebellion, in which he did distinguished service for which he was mentioned in the dispatches, he received a medal. Major Perry was promoted lieutenant superintendent in 1885. On the celebration of the diamond jubilee of Her Majesty, the late Queen Victoria, Commissioner Perry commanded the Northwest Mounted Police contingent and received the jubilee medal. The British Museum.
The resignation of Sir Edward Maunde Thompson from the post of director and principal librarian of the Museum has attracted much attention to the remarkable collection of books, manuscripts, prints, etc. gathered together in the museum. There are more than 2,000,000 printed volumes in the museum— a number only exceeded by the other collections of the Bibliothèque Nationale of France, which contains 2,600,000 volumes. There are besides 70,000 valuable maps, over 100,000 manuscripts (many of which would not be replaceable if stolen or destroyed) and a magnificent collection of prints and drawings. Altogether there are 11 departments in the British Museum, which originated in 1753 in three—namely printed books, manuscripts and objects of natural history.

The present reading room of the British Museum cost £150,000. The dome, which is 106 feet in height and 140 feet in diameter, is second only to the Pantheon at Rome. The part of the museum devoted to printed books contains altogether three miles of bookcases, eight feet high.

One of the most valuable bequests ever made to the museum was that of George IV., who, in 1823, presented a splendid library that had been collected by his father during his long reign at an expense of little less than £200,000. In the opinion of Dr. Fortescue, keeper of the printed books in the British Museum, this library contains the museum's greatest treasure, viz., a collection made by George Thomsen, a London bookseller, every book published between 1642 and 1663, in all about 24,000 volumes. The magnificent library of Right Hon. Thomas Grenville was also bequeathed to the museum, and contains over 20,000 volumes, costing upwards of £54,000.

An Amusing Bull.

Mr. Herbert Gladstone, who, it understood, has been offered the post of Governor-General of United South Africa, was once guilty of an amusing bull in a debate on the question of Disestablishment. Dilating on the hold held on the affections of the people of the Church of England, he said: "When an Englishman wants to get married, to whom does he go? To the parish priest. When he wants to get his child baptized, to whom does he go? To the parish priest. When he wants to get buried, to whom does he go? The House is aware that the same is the case in which Mr. Gladstone himself joined adding: "As I was contrasting the English Church with the Irish, a butler, perhaps, excusable."
